

It is not improper per se for an attorney to contract to sell a computer software package specifically tailored for medical collections to a corporation, wherein the attorney's law firm maintains the exclusive right to use the software package in the law firm's collection work for a period of time. The committee cautions the attorney to be mindful of the provisions of DR:4-101 and DR:5-101. [DR:4-101, DR:5-101]

Committee Opinion
April 30, 1987