

Committee Opinion
November 8, 1982

LEGAL ETHICS OPINION 486

REPRESENTING A CLIENT
ZEALOUSLY/DUTY TO DISCLOSE.

Where neither an attorney nor his client misrepresented any facts to the court in an administrative hearing, and the court did not recite any erroneous facts in its opinion or to the attorney or his client, the attorney has no duty to volunteer to the court that its opinion may be based on a factual error.

Committee Opinion
November 8, 1982