Marshall–Wythe School of Law
College of William & Mary

9:00–9:30 OPENING ADDRESS – NON–UTILITY POWER GENERATION AND THE NATIONAL ENERGY STRATEGY

Linda T. Stuntz, Deputy Under Secretary of Energy
U.S. Dept. of Energy

The Bush Administration's long-awaited National Energy Strategy (NES) was released by the Department of Energy in February of 1991. As the DOE representative responsible for the preparation of the NES document, Linda Stuntz is uniquely qualified to discuss the role to be played by NUGs in the country's future energy policy.

9:30–11:00 CAPACITY ACQUISITION: THE NEW DIRECTION

Electric utilities can now build or buy capacity. What are the rules? What should they be? How will the utilities, the ratepayers, and the NUGs be protected? Our panelists will address these and related questions.

Moderator:

Hubbchen W. Moore, Partner
Christian, Barton, Epps, Brent & Chappell
Panelists:

Larry W. Ellis, Senior Vice President – Power Operations and Planning
Virginia Electric and Power Company

Robert B. Fagan, Regional Vice President
Mission Energy Company

Mark J. LaFaita, Of Counsel, Mays & Valentine

William F. Stephens, Director, Energy Regulation
Virginia State Corporation Commission

11:00–11:15 BREAK

11:15–12:15 NATURAL GAS: THE NUG FUEL OF CHOICE?

Natural gas is increasingly promoted as fuel for electric generation. Our panelists will address the key business, regulatory, and operating aspects of this trend.

Moderator:
Stephen H. Watts, II, Partner
McGuire, Woods, Battle & Boothe

Panelists:

Michael W. Casdorph, Senior Vice President
Columbia Gas Transmission Corporation

Richard R. Hoffman, Chief, Environmental Policy and Project Analysis Branch, Office of Producer and Pipeline Regulation
Federal Energy Regulatory Commission

Jeremiah K. Hughtt, Vice Chairman
Washington Gas Light Company

Henry H. Barbour, Manager of Fuel Procurement
Virginia Electric and Power Company

12:30–2:00 LUNCHEON – (Transportation Provided) CASCADES

2:00–3:00 NUG PROJECT WORKOUTS: PICKING UP THE PIECES

Workouts of troubled NUG projects require resolution of many competing interests, including the need to maintain a reliable supply of electric power at reasonable cost. These issues will be addressed by panelists experienced in representing participants in NUG projects.

Moderator:
Evans B. Brasfield, Partner, Hunton & Williams

Panelists:

T. Randolph Perkins, Vice President and General Counsel
Cogentrix, Inc.

Philip D. Fletcher, Of Counsel
Milbank, Tweed, Hadley & McCloy

John J. Beardsworth, Jr., Partner
Hunton & Williams

James M. Nolan, Partner, Mays & Valentine

NUG PERMITTING: LESSONS FROM THE VIRGINIA EXPERIENCE

Proclamation of NUG projects and the evolution of new technology and environmental regulatory standards have combined to create unprecedented permitting challenges for participants in the Virginia’s NUG marketplace. The panelists will discuss the Virginia experience and its implications for the rest of the country.

Moderator:
James E. Ryan, Jr, Partner, Mays & Valentine

Panelists:

William P. Utt, Senior Vice President of Marketing and Business Development
