

2005 GENERAL ASSEMBLY

Virginia's Lawyer-Legislators

Currently, twenty-eight of the one hundred members of the House of Delegates and ten of forty state senators are lawyers.

In addition to the attorney general, Virginia's other top two officers are attorneys: Governor Mark R. Warner and Lieutenant Governor Timothy M. Kaine both have degrees from Harvard Law School.

In October, Kaine, speaking at the Virginia Association of Defense Attorneys' annual meeting, called for more lawyers to run for public office.

The General Assembly needs not only attorneys' intellectual training, but also their abilities to understand different sides of an issue, to debate, and to advocate without personalizing conflict, he said.

The following thirty-eight lawyers serve in the 2005 General Assembly. The list includes their party affiliations and legislative districts, their firms or employers, the law schools they graduated from, the years they were admitted in Virginia, and their addresses and phone numbers.

More information on legislators can be obtained on the General Assembly's Web site at legis.state.va.us.
